BASIC INFORMATION

Worthwhile climbing on good, partly very beautiful rock. Especially the slab wall in front of the junction to line 95 offers great, technically demanding wall climbing. On sunny midsummer days a rewarding, shady destination.

APPROACH

Parking space Musauer Alm

From the Musauer Alm continue in the direction of the Otto-Mayr-Hütte until the path to the Nesselwängler Scharte branches off to the left (30 minutes walk). Follow the path in the direction of the Nesselwängler Scharte until you can cross it to the entrances (from the turnoff 20 - 30 minutes walk)

DESCENT

From the last stand approx. 40m straight up (hook visible) to a stand. Then climb another 55m up the ridge to a ridge upswing, where the first abseil hook is located. After abseiling twice, it is best to cross down through a channel and up to a ridge on the left (in the direction of descent). There you will find another abseiling ring. Abseil 20m and continue to a striking ridge tower. Behind this tower is the next abseil ring. From there abseil 3 times suspended. The descent is marked, but not easy to find in bad visibility.
